

BELARUS

BUSINESS PARTNER

Dear colleagues and friends!

Currently, Belarus is getting more attractive to international business community. Its unique geographical position – at the crossroads between west and east, north and south – is just one of the advantages for establishing and doing business in Belarus. Other benefits include a favorable investment and taxation environment, unique privatization opportunities, well-developed transport and logistics infrastructure, highly qualified workforce, decent living standards, direct access to the markets of Russia and Kazakhstan.

The advantages of doing business in our country are proved by statistics. For several years Belarus has been rated among the top three out of 50 countries that regularly take part in the World Bank's «Doing business» research and have achieved remarkable results in creating a favorable regulatory environment and implementing reforms efficiently. According to the Human Development Index, compiled by the UN Development Program, our country is listed among the countries with a high level of human development and comes first among the CIS states. And the capital of Belarus, Minsk, tops the Forbes list of the most attractive cities for doing business in the post-Soviet area.

The edition contains up to date information about Belarus, its economic, export, investment potential. We hope it will serve as a business guide for our partners, not only briefly presenting the opportunities for establishing and doing business, but also providing references to the domestic organizations and companies to address for all the necessary information and business assistance.

On behalf of the Belarusian Chamber of Commerce and Industry I wish your acquaintance with Belarus to be productive and full of pleasant experience!

Welcome to Belarus!

Mikhail Myatlikov
Chairman of the Belarusian Chamber of Commerce and Industry

Places to visit in Belarus

the guests of the city to get acquainted to historical and cultural heritage, museums, theaters, exhibition halls.

Belarus starts with the capital city. Minsk enjoys almost thousand-year history. During the Great Patriotic War Minsk was destroyed by more than 80%. Therefore very few ancient buildings have survived in the city. However, Minsk can be proud of wide avenues and streets, spacious squares, diverse architectural ensembles, verdurous boulevards and parks. The Belarusian capital offers over 40 pedestrian and bus tourist routes allowing

The Mir Castle Complex (Mir Castle) is an outstanding example of the XVI century fortification art. It is included in the UNESCO World Cultural Heritage List. Following restoration works, Mir Castle opened its doors to visitors in December 2010.

The Nesvizh palace and park complex is a unique monument of architecture and landscape design of the XVI–XVIII centuries. It is closely connected with the Radziwills family history. It is a UNESCO World Heritage site. In June 2011 Nesvizh Castle opened its doors to visitors following intensive restoration works.

The Augustow Canal is a hydraulic engineering specimen of the early XIX century. It is situated in Grodno region and connects the river Vistula and Neman. Numerous international cultural and sport events, national and regional contests, tourist gatherings take place at the canal. Tourists can go for kayak, canoe, motorboat trips along the Augustow Canal.

The memorial complex Khatyn is one of the most impressive monuments to the victims of World War II. It is located at a distance of 54 km from Minsk. Khatyn is a former Belarusian village destroyed by fascist invaders during the Great Patriotic War. Today's Khatyn complex is one of the most revered places in Belarus. The memorial complex has its own museum and a photo exhibition.

The Brest Fortress memorial is a specimen of the XIX century fortification art, located in a 30-minute walk from Brest's downtown. The fortress is a symbol of Soviet resistance during World War II. On June 22, 1941 the fortress garrison repelled the first attacks of Nazi invaders. The besieged fortress managed to hold the line for over a month. It was awarded the Hero Fortress title in the wake of World War II for outstanding courage displayed by Soviet soldiers when they fought against fascist troops.

Belovezhskaya Pushcha is one of the major tourist attractions of Belarus. It is the biggest forest in Central Europe famous for its oak trees, which are over 500 years old. Belovezhskaya Pushcha is also home to numerous bird and animal species, including Europe's largest population of rare bison. The Belovezhskaya Pushcha National Park is a UNESCO World Heritage site.

The Braslav Lakes National Park is located in Vitebsk region. The park includes the most beautiful glacial lakes in Belarus. The lakes are the habitat of rare birds and animals included in the Belarus Red Book of Endangered Species. There are a lot of tourist camps in the region.

The Marc Chagall Museum in Vitebsk is one of the most popular museums in Belarus. Marc Chagall is a world-famous Belarusian surrealist painter. Marc Chagall's creative phenomenon arouses particular interest in people both in Belarus and abroad. The museum's exposition comprises more than 300 original works of art, including lithographies, xylographs, gravures, aquatints, and illustrations for the poem Dead Souls by Nikolai Gogol. Reproductions of Chagall's most famous canvases are also displayed at the museum.

Polotsk is one of the most beautiful towns in Belarus, located 250 km to the north of Minsk in Vitebsk region, enjoying an attractive riverside location on the river Western Dvina.

Polotsk was first mentioned in the Tale of the Bygone Years in 862. In its eventful history the town endured Viking incursions from the north, fought against crusaders and had been occupied numerous times. Polotsk became the centre of Christianity during the first Russian state of Rus. The town was a birthplace for the first Belarusian canonized woman Euphrosyne of Polotsk.

Not only is it the oldest town in the country, but also one of the oldest in the whole Slavic region, making it a popular tourist attraction in Belarus. There are numerous historical buildings and monuments in Polotsk.

Polotsk's 1150th anniversary was included in the Calendar of Events of UNESCO in 2012–2013.

The Gomel palace and park complex is the most beautiful example of the region's architecture. Currently the unique museum complex in central Gomel unites the palace of the Rumyantsevs and the Paskeviches, a chapel and a burial vault, a winter garden, a watchtower and a picturesque old park.

Today the former aristocrats' residence in Gomel is one of the most interesting and frequently visited Belarusian museums and major historical, cultural and educational center. The collection of the Gomel palace is one of the richest in Belarus. It comprises archeological, ethnographic and numismatic collections, pictures, handwritten books and books printed before the XVIII century, icons and religious items, marine organisms and memorial complexes commemorating outstanding persons.

Tourist attractions of Minsk

One of the landmarks of Minsk is Independence Avenue that crosses the capital city from the center to the north-east. The avenue is 15 km long, which makes it one of Europe's longest city thoroughfares.

The second biggest thoroughfare of Minsk – Pobeditelei Avenue – starts at the ancient Upper Town near the Trinity Suburb.

Independence Square is ranked among the biggest squares in Europe.

The historical center of Minsk has preserved majestic temples and historical landmarks. The pearl of the Minsk downtown is the Trinity Suburb.

Belarusian business ethics

Peculiarities of Belarusian mentality

The Belarusians are very friendly and kind. Expressiveness, emotional outburst, and boisterous spectacles in public are uncharacteristic of them. For centuries the Belarusians have lived in communities, which have left the mark on the character of the relationship between them. Mutual help, respect for the elder and for an interlocutor have always been of great importance. All the major matters are solved conjointly, with holidays being celebrated either by the whole big family, or even by the whole settlement.

Business ethics

The Belarusians are characterized by openness and trust in people. Therefore, in business they tend to observe all the agreements and ensure reputation. The Belarusians believe that successful business relations are based only on trust and good personal relations.

All business meetings shall be arranged beforehand and then confirmed just before they are held. First business contacts imply business environment and business style of negotiations and clothes. Besides, a meeting with Belarusian state authorities representatives will be more formal than a meeting with businessmen.

Language

State languages are Belarusian and Russian. Russian, English and German are widely used for business negotiations. In everyday life Russian and Belarusian predominate. It's frequent that the Belarusians use a peculiar international slang – the mixture of Russian and Belarusian. For instance, it's possible to hear conversations starting in Belarusian and finishing in Russian, and vice versa.

Belarus in international ratings

In a joint study Doing business – 2015, prepared by the World Bank, Belarus is ranked 57th out of 189 countries in the general index of ease of doing business. The country's position improved by six points comparing to the previous (2014) year.

Position of Belarus by main indicators:

Registering property – 3rd place;
 Enforcing contracts – 7th;
 Starting a business – 40th;
 Dealing with construction permits – 51st;
 Paying taxes – 60th;
 Resolving insolvency – 68th;
 Protecting minority investors – 94th;
 Getting credit – 104th;
 Trading across borders – 145th;
 Getting electricity – 148th.

The Doing Business 2015 rating is topped by Singapore. The world's top ten also include New Zealand, Hong Kong (China), Denmark, Republic of Korea, Norway, the United States, the UK, Finland, and Australia.

Russia is 62nd in the list, while Kazakhstan goes 77th.

International Telecommunication Union in Geneva presented the report «Measuring the Information Society 2013».

The Republic of Belarus takes quite high positions in the ratings given by the report. According to the Information Communication Technologies Development Index, our country takes the 41st place out of 157 (Republic of Korea takes the 1st place) and is ahead of all CIS countries except Russia (Russia ranks 40th, Moldova – 62nd, Ukraine – 68th).

The UN Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) considers the Republic of Belarus an important producer of major agricultural products.

The review published on November 1, 2013 by FAO reports that following the results of 2013 Belarus is ranked among the leaders in the pork and beef meat market. In this context, FAO predicts increase in Belarusian meat products exports to foreign markets.

According to the above mentioned review, Belarus is predicted to take the 3rd place in the world as the producer of butter (75 thousand tons), losing only to New Zealand (451 thousand tons) and the EU (125 thousand tons), and the 6th place as the producer of cheese (140 thousand tons).

In the Education Index, a combined statistics of the United Nations Development Programme, Belarus ranks 52nd (out of 188 countries).

For reference:

Index measures the country's developments in terms of the achieved education level, combining two major dimensions:

- adult literacy rate (2/3 of total weight);
- aggregate share of scholars, getting elementary, secondary and higher education (1/3 of total weight).

Belarus maintains the leading position among the CIS states according to the independent British ranking Legatum Prosperity Index. Following the results of 2014, our country occupies the 53rd place (out of 142 countries and territories around the world).

For reference:

Legatum Prosperity Index is based on 79 different variables analysed across 142 nations around the world. The 89 variables are grouped into 8 sub-indexes, which are averaged using equal weights. The 8 sub-indexes are:

- economy;
- entrepreneurship;
- governance;
- education;
- health;
- safety & security;
- personal freedom;
- social capital.

The ranking is based on a variety of factors including wealth, economic growth, education, health, personal well-being, quality of life and their influence on economic growth and long-term welfare of the population.

At the beginning of 2014 American non-government organization Nuclear Threat Initiative published «Nuclear Materials Security Index 2014». Belarus occupies the 9th place and is ahead of all former USSR countries.

Minks ranks 1st (out of 19) among the post-Soviet states' cities in the Forbes' annual look at the best cities for business.

The ranking evaluated the cities' business climate and the ease for Russian businessmen to conduct business there. The final result to a great extent was defined by the absence of language barrier, visa-free entrance and the Customs Union. Developed infrastructure and low tax rates were underlined as well. Moscow didn't participate in the ranking, and was rather a reference point for the other cities.

Belarus ranks 50th in the Rule of Law Index 2014 among 99 countries and territories worldwide in eight key indicators: constraints on government powers, absence of corruption, open government, fundamental rights, order and security, regulatory enforcement, civil justice, and criminal justice.

According to the Human Development Index (HDI), published by the United Nations Development Programme, Belarus is classified as a country with high level of HDI, ranking 53rd among 187 countries.

For reference:

The Human Development Index (HDI) combines three dimensions:

- life expectancy index;
- education index;
- income index: GNI per capita.

Processing industry

Mechanical engineering

Automobile industry is one of the leading branches of the mechanical engineering sector. It accounts for one fourth of the sector's output.

Belarus specializes in manufacturing freight vehicles, buses and special vehicles. The biggest companies are Minsk Automobile Plant and BELAZ. Belarusian Automobile Works accounts for a third of the global market of rock haulers and is one of the leading producers of quarry equipment in the world.

Belarus is a leading producer of agricultural equipment such as tractors, grain harvesters, all kinds of forage harvesters. Minsk Tractor Works is among the biggest manufacturers of wheeled tractors. Belarusian tractors account for 96% of the global market.

Chemical industry

The Belarusian State Concern for Oil and Chemistry Belneftekhim incorporates over 60 enterprises. It accounts for more than 30% of the country's industrial output.

The top exporters of mineral fertilizers in Belarus are Belaruskali and GrodnoAzot.

Belaruskali is one of the world's biggest manufacturers of potash fertilizers. The Belarusian enterprise accounts for 16% of the global potassium market. About 90% of Belaruskali's output is exported to Europe, East Asia, Mediterranean countries, South Africa, India, China, South and North Americas – a total of 65 countries across the globe.

Belshina is Europe's largest tire producer.

The Belarusian oil processing industry includes Novopolotsk-based Naftan Oil Refinery and Mozyr Oil Refinery. These are modern facilities manufacturing high-quality oil products which are exported to Central and Northwest Europe.

Rechitsa Metizny Plant	Bolts, screws, nails of all dimension-types
Minsk Plant of Heating Equipment	Heating boilers, radiators, fittings

Power engineering

The Belarusian fuel and energy complex includes companies engaged in production, transportation, and storage of all kinds of energy resources. About 85% of energy resources consumed by the national economy are imported. Electricity generation is the core of the Belarusian fuel and energy complex. This is one of the leading branches of the national economy with a traditionally high level of Belarus' technical and engineering potential concentrated. Beltransgaz OJSC distributes and transports gas across Belarus.

In the near future nuclear energy will play a leading role in the fuel and energy complex. The decision to build a nuclear power plant with the capacity of up to 2,000 MW in Belarus was made in 2008. The NPP will allow reducing the prime cost of produced energy by up to 20%.

Agriculture

Agricultural production accounts for about 8% of the country's GDP. Less than 10% of the employed in the national economy work in the agricultural sector.

Belarusian companies almost fully satisfy the needs of the domestic food market. Food import accounts for less than 10% of the total consumption. The production of milk per capita in Belarus is 2.8 times higher than that in the European Union and 8.4 times higher than that in the world. The production of meat per capita is 1.1 times and 2.2 times higher, the manufacture of grain is 1.6 times and 2.5 times higher respectively.

The country accounts for 1% of the global export of milk, 11% of butter export, and 5.7% of cheese export. Belarus is a top exporter of dairy products in the world along with Australia, New Zealand, Brazil, and Argentina.

Belarus is ranked first in terms of per capita production of potato and is one of the major potato producers in the world.

Belarusian agricultural products are exported to Transport and logistics

Belarus is a major transport corridor of Eurasia. The transportation infrastructure of Belarus is represented by a broad network of motorways, railways, airlines. Every year over 100 million tones of European cargoes are transported via Belarus. About 90% of the cargoes are transported between Russia and the European Union. The territory of the country is crossed by two out of ten cross-European transportation corridors:

Berlin–Minsk–Moscow;

Helsinki–Mogilev–Bucharest.

Transit of goods via Belarus is fast and secure. Transport services are rendered by railway, automobile, air, inland water, and pipeline transport operators.

Geographical location of Belarus favors the deployment of logistics centers along the routes used to transport cargoes between Europe and Asia.

	Cargo transportation (thousand tones)	Cargo turnover (million ton-km)
	137,359	61,134
	153,673	48,351

Banking system

The banking system of the Republic of Belarus has two levels. It consists of the National Bank of the Republic of Belarus and other banks.

The National Bank of the Republic of Belarus is the first level of the banking system of the country. It performs the following functions: state registration and regulation of the banks' activities, licensing of banking, regulation of credit relations and monetary circulation, determination of the settlement procedure and the exclusive right for currency emission. The National Bank is responsible for cooperation with the International Monetary Fund, and also forms part of the Group of Banking Supervisors from Central and Eastern European Countries – BSCEE Group.

As of April 1, 2014 the banking sector of Belarus comprised 31 commercial banks. The overall capital of Belarusian banks amounted to 56,985,595.8 million rubles.

The main agency of the stock market of the Republic of Belarus is the Belarusian Currency and Stock Exchange.

The country has a well-developed information and analytical system, covering the results of the circulation of securities issued in the country, information about the activities of the issuers and participants of the securities market, news of the stock and financial markets of the Republic of Belarus.

The countries of origin of the foreign capital in the banking system of Belarus are Austria, Cyprus, Czech Republic, Great Britain, Iran, Ireland, Kazakhstan, Latvia, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Russia, USA, Ukraine, Switzerland, and others.

Food industry

Key export products are milk and dairy products (57.2%), meat and meat products (32.3%), casein (2.3%), eggs (1.4%). The share of food products in total exports has increased from 7% to 10% over the last five years.

Belarusian food products are supplied to 50 countries worldwide. The largest importers are Russia, Ukraine, Poland, Germany, Kazakhstan, Lithuania, Moldova.

Promising trends in attracting investments are:

- increase of the production capacity for products with longer shelf life;
- manufacture of narrow-niche products – in cheese and meat industries;
- expanding capacities for processing cheese and milk whey using biotechnological methods;
- creation of «shock» freezing complexes for berries and mushrooms, as well as various treatment technologies for vegetables and fruits.

Light industry

Light industry in Belarus accounts for 28–30% of the total production of non-food goods. There are about 500 light industry enterprises in the republic, producing over 5,000 product names.

Belarusian light industry is passing through a period of modernization: a number of key enterprises are investing in the replacement of production equipment with the view of releasing more competitive products. An active search for investors for the re-equipping of plants, updating marketing policy, and working on the image of the product are being carried out. Knitting enterprises are reckoned among the most promising areas for investment. The strength of the Belarusian light industry in attracting foreign investments consists in good raw materials base, as well as cheap labour force.

The textile industry is regarded as the largest in production volume. The segment combines the production of all kinds of fabrics, knitwear, felting and other products.

The knitting industry focuses on the production of knitwear, knitted fabric, hosiery and other products.

The main activity of sewing industry enterprises is sewing suits and outerwear, children's clothing, underwear, hats and fur items. The largest sewing factories in Belarus have a «portfolio» of export brands which are exported not only within the CIS, but also to the Czech Republic, Denmark, Great Britain, the Netherlands, Poland, the USA.

Footwear industry enterprises tend to improve the quality of raw materials and reduce the level of import capacity.

The establishment of the Belarusian fashion industry takes place nowadays together with the rapid development of our country's economy. Belarus Fashion Week, which for the last nine seasons has been successfully representing the Belarusian fashion on the international arena, and the republican fashion and photo contest-festival «Mill of Fashion» stand out among many emerging projects in this sphere.

Forestry, woodworking, pulp and paper industry

Forest fund is over 9.5 million ha.
 Forest cover makes 39.1%.
 Total stock of forest stands is estimated at 1.7 billion m³.
 Annual wood increment makes 31 million m³.
 Forest cover per capita is 0.9 ha; wood stock per capita is 180 m³.

During the last 60 years the percentage of forest land of the republic has almost doubled and reached its maximum volume for more than 100-years' period.

Conscious efforts of the Belarusian wood-growers foster the improvement of the quality of forest reserves. The volume of man-made stands is consistently growing. Furthermore, the steady enlargement of the areas with the maturing, mature and overmature forest stands is observed.

In 2013 Belarusian forestry establishments processed 1,960 thousand m³ of wood, which amounts at 110% comparing to 2012.

In 2013 woodworking enterprises produced 557 thousand m³ of sawn timber (101.6% comparing to 2012), including 543 thousand m³ of sawn lumber (102.3% to the level of 2012).

The production volume of woodworking enterprises has increased by 17.6% (from BYR 590.8 to BYR 695 million).

The cost-effectiveness of the produced goods in 2013 made 8%, with planned increase of 6.5%.

The pulp and paper industry of Belarus produces about 250 million tons of paper and about 60 million tons of cardboard annually, part of the products are exported.

Imported pulp and waste paper is used as raw material.

Despite the growing production volumes of the Belarusian enterprises, the level of import of paper in the republic remains high. In this regard, as well as due to the fact that there is a significant proportion of low-value softwood timber and thinners which are unclaimed on the domestic market, it is planned to accelerate the development of the production of pulp and paper.

Tourism

The number of organized visits was 136.8 thousand in 2013.

From CIS states – 114.2 thousand visits, of which from Russia – 111.3 thousand, Ukraine – 2 thousand.

Among the non-CIS countries, the largest number of visitors came from Germany, Italy, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, United Kingdom, and Turkey. In 2013 these countries made up 56.4% of total tourist arrivals from non-CIS countries.

Average duration of stay is 4 days.

A number of large-scale nature protection projects are realized in the republic. There are five national parks in Belarus, protected by the state.

National parks enjoy good opportunities for the development of ecotourism. There are various tourist routs, ecological paths, multi-day specialized ecotours, aiming at observing wild animals and birds in their natural environment, nature museums, hunting tours in subordinate hunting farms, as well as joint scientific research of nature habitat and ecosystem.

Rural tourism

The number of tourists who made use of agro-ecotourism services in 2013 was 271.7 thousand, 22.1% more than in 2012.

Relatively new type of tourism for Belarus, although the country has already succeeded in it. Today over 1,880 farmsteads in the most picturesque parts of Belarus are open to foreign guests.

It's also possible to visit holy places in Belarus. Belarus' most revered places include St. Euphrosyne Convent in Polotsk, the Church of the Resurrection of Christ in Brest, the Roman-Catholic Church in Novogrudok built on the site of the former pagan temple, and biblical frescoes of St. Stanislaus Cathedral in Mogilev.

Therapeutic tourism

In 2013, 464 sanatorium, health resort and health improvement facilities were functioning in Belarus.

833.4 thousand guests were accommodated.

Belarus offers great health-improving opportunities at sanatoriums and spas for people wishing to spend their holiday with benefit to their health.

Belarusian health resorts are located in the most picturesque corners of the country: in pine forests, on the banks of rivers and lakes, where nature itself is beneficial. Belarus enjoys a moderate continental climate with mild winter and warm summer, there are 4 types of mineral water springs, which makes it possible to have a rest in Belarus all the year round.

Brest region

Brest region is located in the south-west of the country, in the basins of the Western Bug, the Neman, and the Dnieper, borders on Poland and Ukraine.

Region advantages

- development of consumer complex, processing organizations using local raw materials;
- favourable climatic conditions.

Resources and mineral deposits:

construction stone, clay, sand, gravel, oil shales, brown coal, granite, chalk, glass-making and moulding sand, table salt, mineral water.

Production:

incandescent lamps, forming machines, limited-swing shovels, electric cookers, household electric appliances for heating and cooking, chipboard, cotton fabrics.

Agriculture specializes in the production of meat, milk, potato, corn, sugar beet and vegetables.

Export:

trade and economic relations with 120 countries

Export products:

fish products, sugar, gas stoves, furniture and other products, milk and meat industry products.

Attracting investment:

- high-tech and innovative projects;
- export-oriented and import-substituting production;
- production and processing of agricultural products;
- development of infrastructure of roadside service;
- development of tourist services.

Gomel region

Gomel region is located in the south-east of Belarus, it borders on Russia and Ukraine.

Region advantages:

- highly-developed industrial area;
- largest deposits of rock salt in Europe;
- one of the highest forest cover per cent in Europe;
- significant competitive manufacturing, natural-resources, agricultural, and research-and-technology potential.

Resources and mineral deposits:

oil, potassium and rock salt, brown coal, peat, construction and cap stone, glass-making and moulding sand, chalk, plaster, brick clays and clayish soils, kaolin.

Production:

steel, ferrous metals, phosphate fertilizers, forage harvesters, harvesting complexes, combine harvesters, oil and associated gas, sheet glass, wallpaper, tableware. Region's industrial enterprises produce a significant part of gasoline, diesel fuel, cardboard, plywood, particle board.

Industry is the basis of the regional economy.

Export

Gomel region organizations cooperate with trade partners from 115 countries of the worldwide.

Export products:

oil, ferrous metals and products thereof, equipment and machinery for harvesting and threshing of crops, mineral mixed fertilizers, dairy products, plastic containers, salt, polished glass.

Attracting investment:

- in the region there are enterprises, established with foreign capital from 41 countries;
- there is a high-tech base of enterprises, operating in radio, instrument-making, engineering, electrical and cable industry branches. These companies boast spacious production areas, storage facilities, infrastructure, and a full range of engineering communications.

Grodno region is located in the west of the country and borders on Poland and Lithuania.

Region advantages:

- potential accumulated in chemical production;
- favourable climate conditions to develop agriculture and food industry.

Resources and mineral deposits:

iron ores, peat, chalk, brick and tile clays, cement raw materials, silicate sands, limestone raw materials, sand and gravel materials.

Production:

- milk and meat production, poultry farming;
- Grodno region economy specializes of agriculture;
- the area also specializes in the production of caprolactam, nitrogen fertilizers, ammonia, potato, seeders, planters and transplanter, cord tire fabric, slate, cement, tobacco products.

Export:

Grodno region supplies its products to the markets of 87 countries.

Export products:

nitrogen fertilizers, caprolactam, dairy and meat products, hosiery, furniture.

Attracting investment:

- modernization of the enterprises, operating in food processing, chemical, woodworking, light industry, fuel, construction, and machine-building branches;
- establishment of high-tech enterprises;

Minsk region is the central region of the Republic of Belarus bordering on all the other regions of the country.

Region advantages:

- developed manufacturing infrastructure;
- modern industrial organizations and communication;
- high quality of land and recreation resources;
- deposits of minerals unique for Belarus (rock phosphate);

- largest resources of cement raw materials in the country.

Resources and mineral deposits:

potassium and rock salt, peat, clay, sapropels, sand and gravel materials, iron ore, oil shales, mineral water, rock phosphorites, etc.

Production:

dump trucks, passenger cars, potash, tiles, parquet, leather goods, knitwear, pasta, sugar, mineral water. The region has a developed industrial structure and close production links with the industrial complex of Minsk.

Export

Minsk region exports its products to more than 120 countries worldwide.

Export products:

potash fertilizers, dairy and meat products.

Attracting investment:

- introduction of new technologies, technological equipment, which helps to enhance the quality characteristics of products and services;
- development of new products with high added value, certified by modern international standards of quality;
 - maintaining and strengthening of the region's and country's position in traditional markets of Russia, Ukraine, the European Union, as well as the expansion of markets in foreign countries;

Investment

The Republic of Belarus is a country with great investment potential.

In 2013 fixed capital investments amounted to BYR 209,574.6 billion (equivalent to US$ 22 billion), which makes 109% comparing to 2012 at comparable prices.

Investment ratio in the country's GDP is 31.8%.

Attraction and effective use of investments is one of the main priorities of the state investment policy of Belarus.

All sectors of our economy are open to foreign investments (except the production of weapons, narcotics and toxic substances).

Foreign investors may set up companies in Belarus with any amount of foreign investments, in any legal form, as well as their branches and representative offices.

Unprecedented measures of investment liberalization have been taken in Belarus, all the necessary legal conditions for foreign investors have been created. All investors are guaranteed equal, without discrimination, protection of rights and

Fixed capital investments by sources of financing legitimate interests, regardless of the form of ownership and the national status.

Tax burden for the enterprises with foreign capital has been decreased. The country has established a system of incentives, privileges and preferences for investment activities. Special legal regimes can be applied to investors in free economic zones, small and medium-sized cities, rural areas, the Hi-Tech Park, etc.

Belarus continues the efforts to join the 30 top countries with the most favourable business conditions. The country has constantly carried out reforms aimed at the liberalization of economy and improvement of investment attractiveness.

Belarus is the best place for investment

Advantageous economic and geographical location in the centre of Europe

Establishing business in the territory of Belarus opens up the opportunity to supply goods to large and fast-growing markets of the European Union states, Russia, Ukraine, and other CIS states.

The advantages include, along with the strategic location, the membership of Belarus in the Customs Union and the Common Economic Space of Russia, Belarus and Kazakhstan.

Political, social and economic stability

- economic stability
- political predictability
- friendly relations with the neighboring countries

High living standards

Belarus is one of the countries with high human development level, and it lacks only three ranking points to make one of the countries with very high human development level.

High educational and scientific potential

Over 90% of the republic' population have higher, secondary or basic education. Adult literacy rate is 99.7%. Education is one of the major priorities of the socio-economic development of the country and bases on national traditions and world educational tendencies.

Public-private partnership

The government focuses on the public-private partnership, which allows overcoming economic contradictions when strategic objects can't be handed out to private ownership, but state budget can't provide their full financing.

Progressive legislation

Belarus has created an effective legal framework for the investment business underpinned by international treaties and the national legislation.

Competitive investment and taxation conditions

There is a number of preferential regimes in Belarus which can be of use for foreign companies, including from the point of view of their taxation planning and optimization. They include special beneficial business conditions in the case of organizing business within six free economic zones (0% profit tax for 5 years; 10% VAT), High-Tech Park (0% profit tax for 15 years; 0% VAT), and the Belarusian-Chinese Industrial Park (0% profit tax for 10 years). Foreign companies can also derive additional profit by the maximum decrease of investment expenses and taxation burden while placing their businesses in the territory of small and medium towns of Belarus (0% profit tax for 7 years).

Low crime rate

In 2013, the total number of crime recorded was 96,676, which is by 5.5% less than in 2012.

Privatization

A key prerequisite for attracting foreign investments in Belarus is the decrease in a share of the public sector and privatization of state property. This ensures the rational use of resources and production capacity, improvement of the financial situation of organizations, increase of investment activities of economic entities.

The national legislation provides various forms of participation of an investor in the privatization process: participation in the procedure of transformation of the enterprise into an open joint-stock company, the acquisition of shares of established joint stock company at auction or by tender, the purchase of the enterprise (the opportunity to purchase at a reduced price, in the amount of one base unit).

Developed network of transport communications and infrastructure

Belarus is situated at the crossroads of railways and automobile roads, gas and oil pipelines, communication systems, air and water routes between industrially developed Western Europe and rich in natural resources Asia.

Developed export-oriented industry

Belarus is one of the world leading exporters of heavy trucks, tractors, road-building and municipal machinery. The republic maintains leading positions in the CIS region in the field of chemical and processing industries, in certain areas of information and communication technologies.

Direct access to the market of the three CES countries (Belarus, Russia, Kazakhstan)

Today the companies investing in Belarus automatically enter the 180-million market of the three CES countries.

The CES is:

- a common customs territory of Belarus, Russia, Kazakhstan with a single customs tariff;
- equal business conditions (including the costs of the principal energy resources);
- single rules of technical regulation, single sanitary, veterinary, and phytosanitary norms;
- free movement of goods, services, capital, workforce.

Legal guarantees

- the right to private property and other proprietary and non-proprietary rights;
- the equality of rights and the equal nondiscriminatory protection of the rights and legitimate interests of an investor;
- the stability of the rights to perform investment activities and terminate them;
- the right to an independent choice of action and the performance of actions related to the ownership, use and disposal of the objects and results of investment activity, including independent disposal of the revenues (profits) and free transfer of profits abroad;
- compensation of the market value of the invested property and recovery of other loss suffered by an investor as a result of nationalization or requisition allowed in exceptional cases only;
- recovery of the loss and damage inflicted upon to an investor as a result of the actions (or lack thereof) of government officials.

Preferential legal regimes

Free Economic Zones (FEZs)

FEZs are areas with special customs registration and tax regimes which provide additional benefits to investors. Benefits offered within free economic zones apply to the production and sale of import-substituting goods and exported goods and services.

The FEZ residents are exempt from:

- own product profit tax within 5 years after profit is declared, upon the expiration of 5 years, the profit tax is paid in the amount of 50% of the normal standard;

- real estate tax on buildings and structures located in the territory of FEZs;
- state tax for issuance to foreign citizens and persons without citizenship special permits for employment in the Republic of Belarus;
- land tax for plots of land used to execute investment projects (for the residents registered after January 1, 2012 during the period of design and construction of real estate objects within 5-years' time after the registration).

FEZ residents' sales of import-substituting goods of own production in the territory of the Republic of Belarus are subject to value added tax at the rate of 10%.

Hi-Tech Park

Companies operating in the field of information technologies and developing business in the Republic of Belarus in this area can benefit from a preferential tax regime in the Hi-Tech Park. HTP resident companies are registered according to the extraterritorial principle of registration.

Residents are exempt from:

- income tax;
- value-added tax;
- offshore tax on dividends;
- real estate tax on the buildings located in the territory of the HTP;

- land tax for the construction period, but not more than for three years;
- customs payments.

Individual income received from the residents is subject to income tax at the rate of 9%.

«Great stone» Industrial Park

The «Great stone» Industrial park is a territorial entity of approximately 80 sq. km with a special legal status for the provision of comfortable conditions for doing business.

Residents of the Industrial Park are exempt from:

- income tax derived from the sale of goods (works, services) of own production within 10 years;

- real estate tax on buildings and structures located in the territory of the Park for 10 years;
- tax on land plots within the boundaries of the Park for 10 years. During the following 10 years, the Park residents pay income tax, land tax, property tax at the rates reduced by 50%;
- income tax on dividends accrued during 5 years from the year a Park resident first gets gross profit.

The residents of the Park have the right for full deduction of VAT paid for the acquisition of goods (works, services, property rights) used for design, building and equipment of buildings and facilities in the Park;

Rate of tax on the income accrued by the Park residents from the foreign legal entities on royalties is 5% until January 1, 2027.

Incomes of physical persons under employment contracts with the Park residents are subject to income tax at the rate of 9%.

Similar tax incentives on income tax and estate tax are provided for separate subdivisions (branches).

Medium-sized and small towns, rural areas

Commercial organizations located in medium and small towns, rural areas producing goods (works, services) in their territory are exempt within seven years since the date of state registration from:

- income tax payments for the sale of goods (works, services) of own production;
- real estate tax on the cost of capital structures (buildings, constructions).

Investment agreement

Investment agreement is one of the possible forms of public-private partnership. Investor receives additional guarantees and preferences through signing such an agreement. The preferences include:

- the right to construct objects, as provided in accordance with the investment project, simultaneously with the elaboration, expert examination and approval of the necessary project documentation for each of the stages of the construction works with simultaneous planning of the following stages of the construction works;
- simplification of the procedure of getting a land plot, implying the right to conclude a contract of lease of a land plot without holding an auction;
- exemption from import customs duties and value added tax on technical equipment (accessories and spare parts thereto) to be used in the territory of the Republic of Belarus within the framework of the investment project implementation;
- exemption from the compensation of losses of agricultural and/or forestry production, caused by the seizure of lands for implementation of the investment project;
- exemption from the state tax for issuance to foreign citizens and persons without citizenship special permits for employment in the Republic of Belarus;
- exemption from target fees to the local budgets.

The legislation of the Republic of Belarus provides the possibility of additional individual benefits and preferences, taking into account the project specifics.
